

Development of Dicot embryo

The Stages involved in the development of Dicot embryo (Capsella bursa-pastoris - Onagrad or crucifer type) is given in the figure. The embryo develops at micropylar end of embryo sac. The zygote undergoes transverse division to form upper or terminal cell and lower or basal cell.

